Everyone Makes Innovation Policy Programme – Call for Proposals – Nesta	Nesta is looking to fund projects (up to £15,000) that will use creative methods to engage members of the public in issues relating to innovation policy – the range of things that governments – national, regional and local – can do to promote and support innovation for economic growth and for public good. Projects might, for example, focus on involving the public in one or more of the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Uncovering or reframing problems or needs that innovation could address • Identifying priorities or challenges for innovation policy • Deciding how funds should be spent • Influencing the way that new technologies are developed, used or regulated • Devising sets of principles to guide policymakers’ decisions • Monitoring and improving existing policy initiatives Projects can target a broad spectrum of the public, or focus on specific sets of people. We’re particularly interested in projects that are able to reach people who are typically excluded from policymaking processes. Nesta will provide funding up to £15k per proposal, although you do not have to bid for the maximum – they welcome proposals for smaller, riskier projects that require a smaller amount of funding to deliver. This will be grant funding – Nesta will not own the IP to the work, although, as a charity, they have an interest in widely disseminating the findings from research and projects it supports for public benefit. To apply for a grant, you will need to prepare a short proposal of no more than five pages. The budget of the WiFi4EU scheme is EUR 120 million between 2017 and 2019. It will support the installation of “state-of-the-art Wi-Fi equipment in the centres of community life.” The WiFi4EU scheme will be disbursed in a geographically balanced manner, so that high-speed connections can benefit both residents and visitors of thousands of local communities across the EU – at least 6,000 to 8,000 local communities by 2020. The WiFi4EU scheme will be open to public sector bodies – typically local authorities. It will fund the equipment and installation costs (internet access points), while the beneficiary will pay for the connectivity (internet subscription) and maintenance in good order of the equipment for 3 years. Local authorities will be encouraged to develop and promote their own digital services in areas such as e-government, e-health and e-tourism through a dedicated app. Projects will be selected on a first-come, first-serve basis. https://ec.europa.eu/digital-single-market/en/policies/wifi4eu-free-wi-fi-europeans

Core Strength	Comic Relief (administered locally by Quartet Community Foundation)	http://quartetcf.org.uk/grant-programmes/comic-relief/	Funding for Core Costs. Grants up to £10,000 available. This programme is responding to the growing need of small locally led groups to cover their day to day costs. The aim is to provide funding for groups' core costs – meaning expenditure that is not connected to delivering projects but focusing on investing in the organisation as a whole, such as basic running costs. We know securing core funding can be tough and want to use this programme to help support those doing much needed work in their local communities. People living in areas of disadvantage or who face social issues often get vital support from	Last deadline was 15 th February 2018. See website for updates.

			smaller local groups based within their communities. It is these locally based groups that truly understand the needs of the people they serve and make a huge difference to their lives. However, recent research shows that small and medium sized organisations across the UK are being hit particularly hard by the current economic climate, forcing many to either scale back or dissolve completely. These organisations urgently need core funding to continue their crucial work. There are still many communities in the UK that work in areas of economic and social deprivation and disadvantage and the current economic climate may make this situation worse. Comic Relief wants to recognise the importance of local community organisations and the pivotal role they play across the UK. That is why they have developed this exciting programme to fund organisational costs only and not direct project delivery – Comic Relief hope this goes some way to help ensure organisations continue to sustain themselves and support their local communities. What can you apply for? A grant shall be used to support groups that can evidence a sustained beneficial impact on people’s lives who are excluded or disadvantaged – this may be through low income, rural or social isolation, age, disabilities, race, sexuality or gender. For example, employee-owned businesses like John Lewis or building societies such as Nationwide which are fully or majority owned by their members. However, Mutuels can also be co-operatives or social enterprises. With public services under pressure, the Department for Digital, Culture, Media and Sport (DCMS) is looking for new ways of delivering public services that meet and exceed people's expectations and provide value for money to the taxpayer. The government asserts that the mutual model can be a viable alternative to delivering public services, compared to in-house or traditional outsourcing. The DCMS is funding a package of support programmes to support public sector organisations across England to start a Public Service Mutual, and to support existing mutuels to thrive. There are no minimum or maximum grant levels. The programme has a budget of £1.7 million. A total of £1.2 million will be available to create new mutuels - or strengthen existing ones - by providing access to advice across areas including legal, financial, marketing, human resources and business planning.

			A further £500,000 will be used to pilot support programmes such as partnership working to help mutuals collaborate with voluntary, community and social enterprise organisations and others to broaden the service they offer. A mentoring scheme will also allow newly-formed mutuals to benefit from one-to-one experienced advice and support, as well as a peer support network which will bring aspiring mutuals together to share their experiences, challenges and successes. Applicants are expected to provide a degree of match funding, which should be in cash rather than 'in-kind'. Organisations in England that wish to become or grow as Public Service Mutuals may apply. The organisation must currently, or intend to, fulfil the government's definition of a Public Service Mutual, which is an organisation that: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Has left the public sector (also known as 'spinning out'); • Continues to deliver public services and aims to have a positive social impact; and • Has a significant degree of staff influence or control in the way it is run.

			Existing mutuals must be in their first five years of operation, or delivering an original or extended contract which has not been retendered, or both. Initial application is by an Expression of Interest. If an applicant's Expression of Interest passes the minimum threshold, they will be invited for an assessment with a supplier of the applicant's choice. If the Expression of Interest is successful, they will work with their supplier to develop a support plan. This plan will then be recommended for approval by the DCMS Mutuals Team. If approved, support will begin. Organisations can check if they are eligible for funding by contacting the Mutuals Team at the Department for Digital, Culture, Media and Sport

Charity Governance	Charity trustees need to be able to identify the critical issues – the charity's purposes and plans, its solvency, its resilience and quality of governance – and to be able to review these at regular intervals. The Charity Commission has designed these 15 questions to help charity trustees carry out such a review and decide what they need to focus on. The Commission has also included links to guidance that can help trustees access further information on a particular issue.	https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/charity-trustee-meetings-15-questions-you-should-ask/charity-trustee-meetings-15-questions-you-should-ask
Foundation for Social Improvement - Small Charity Index	The Small Charity Index demonstrates the challenges small charities face in securing funding to deliver the vital services they provide for their local communities. In the years post the 2007/08 financial crisis, funds to support local services, especially from Local Authorities (a statutory source) decreased. Small charities, who deliver local services specifically in the areas of health and social welfare, therefore continue to face a challenging commissioning environment. By tracking the experiences in income generation across statutory, voluntary and earned income sources, this report shows how small charities continue to be affected by economic uncertainty, placing pressure on securing funds to remain sustainable in the long term. New fundraising opportunities have emerged, such as social investment and online giving, however these new opportunities are not necessarily appropriate for all charities, and many continue to struggle	http://www.thefsi.org/policyresearch/scindex/

	to replace the income lost through the austerity cuts and the challenging economic climate. Therefore overall, the Small Charity Index paints a picture of income stagnation, at least for the Small Charity Sector. Crowd Funder Ltd	Crowdfunding is a way to raise money, awareness and support for a project, from the people around you. It's a means of funding that allows individuals to make their ideas a reality with the power of the crowd. Crowdfunding enables people with great ideas to raise the money they need, in return for 'rewards'. The public can back your idea with pledges of money and project owners can 'thank' their backers with rewards that reflect the money contributed.	http://www.crowdfunder.co.uk/help/what-is-crowdfunding

Free items – Warp It	WARP IT – Free resources for not-for-profits Organisations often have surplus resources which they no longer need but are in good condition. Warp It was created to make sure these items can be passed to organisations carrying out charitable activities in a safe and legal manner. Warp It is free to all charities, not for profit's, social enterprises, community groups and groups which are not commercial but offer a social service. Charities can sign up and, by linking up with local organisations, receive notifications of surplus items in their area. Benefiting organisations do not have to be a charity with a charity number: they just need to be carrying out a social benefit to the community. Charitable groups can benefit from Warp It in a number of ways: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Get access to surplus resources in their area and nationally. This will save you money that can then be spent on charitable activities. • Collaborate and make connections with other organisations in an area. • Furniture and bulky waste charities can distribute their own goods on Warp It for other charities, individuals or organisations to claim • Transport charities can advertise their services for the transfer of goods from one organisation to another • National charities can use the system to advertise their resources around their own networks • Furniture refurbishment charities can advertise their services to 	https://www.warp-it.co.uk/charities

Support with your project from University of Bath Students	For the past 5 years Zurich Community Trust (on behalf of the Zurich Life business in the UK) have been working in partnership with the University of Bath's School of Management faculty with the aim of encouraging small teams of students to volunteer their time and/or skills in October and November to add value to local charitable organisations. They have developed this initiative with help from ourselves and the Students' Union Volunteer Office. A member of Zurich's staff who has already completed a successful challenge project will be mentoring each of the student teams. They are currently looking for fairly simple projects that a team of up to 7 students can deliver in November 2017. This could include : <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • assisting you in the planning or delivery of an event • pre-Xmas activity planning eg maybe doing a small amount of fundraising to provide Xmas decorations • collating a collection for you eg food or arts and crafts items or good quality items for a charity shop • organising a simple event like afternoon tea for your client group • using their skills - marketing, strategy and planning, finance - to carry out a piece of work for you or provide training • Helping to raise the profile of your charity The students involved in this scheme are international and will be put into teams of other students that they have probably not met before. Therefore part of their challenge may well include language and cultural barriers, as	E-mail: mike.plows@vol-centre.org.uk Phone: 01225 477115 Mobile 07815 564726 The Volunteer Centre can offer a range of support to community organisations. However, your time will be needed to support them as this is a learning experience for these students and things may go wrong but it's how they then deal with these problems that is a key learning curve for them. Your project will be helping them to develop their teamwork, problem solving, communication and leadership skills to name but a few! For an application form, contact Mike Plows at the Volunteer Centre by 31st August 2017. You will need to give as much detail as possible about the challenge and the benefits for you or your client group. You may request as many projects as you like but each one must be on a separate form. The projects will be launched to Bath University students on the 10th October and the student groups then choose which challenge they would like to deliver. Some challenges will not get selected to go through to the final round. However, other groups of students might want to take up some of these projects at a later date.

Lloyds Bank launches £500 million Growth Fund	Lloyds Banking Group has opened a £500 million pound loan fund to help British businesses finance equipment. Essentially, this is the same £500 million scheme the bank opened a couple of years ago for the agricultural sector, but now its remit has been widened to include manufacturing, construction and transport. The scheme targets small and medium-sized companies which banks froze out of credit following the financial crisis. The bank said the fund will deliver quick access to finance by allowing companies to spread the cost of assets over their lifetime, enabling big investments that don't eat into working capital.	Interested parties can phone either of the Bank's two 24-hour helpline/contact numbers: 0345 300 0000 or 01733 347 007. PLEASE NOTE: these are not Freephone numbers - calls are charged at a local rate.

	The government sees small and medium-sized companies as key to unlocking higher productivity, which has fallen back to below pre-crisis levels this year, and to the success of the UK economy post-Brexit. These businesses have struggled to invest in the decade since the financial crisis as banks have shied away from lending to smaller businesses.
Research on mental health and social relationships	Mental illness has huge cost implications for society and the NHS in terms of lost work days and healthcare. Research into the health effect of social networks and interaction could inform cost-efficient mental health initiatives and policies. Depression, anxiety and other psychological conditions cost the UK an estimated £77 billion a year. Experts predict that by 2020 depression will be second only to heart disease as an international health problem. Social isolation has long been known as a key trigger for mental illness, while supportive relationships with friends, family and neighbours are beneficial to the mental health of individuals and the population. Other forms of social interaction such as volunteering are also known to boost wellbeing. People with supportive friends and family generally have better mental and physical health than those who lack these networks. The same is true for those who take part in churches, clubs and voluntary organisations. It is only by analysing people's lives over time within a structural, social and cultural context that we can establish whether social relationships really do contribute to better health and increased wellbeing – or whether better health and more energy in the first place enable people to invest in relationships with family and friends. Researchers at the ESRC-funded International Centre for Lifecourse Studies In Society and Health have examined how social networks have a	http://www.esrc.ac.uk/news-events-and-publications/evidence-briefings/mental-health-and-social-relationships/

	positive psychological impact. Attachment theory suggests that people with secure childhoods may be better at relationships of any kind – for instance making friends at school and work, or getting on well with neighbours. This theory can only be tested by looking at information over the span of a person’s life, preferably from birth to old age. For further information and key findings, see the website to the right.
Fundraising Advice – Hold a Fast Party	The idea behind a Fast Party is not to plough through the buffet at a party as quickly as possible, but to 'fast' - as in abstaining from eating. A Fast Party is actually a non-event, whereby people are invited to a party that isn't going to take place. This type of fundraiser works particularly well with well-known charitable organisations with a strong supporter base either locally or nationally. Guests are asked to go without one meal on a specific date and to contribute the money that would otherwise be spend on the meal to your not-for-profit. The advantage of this fundraising idea is that it: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Requires very little organising • Doesn't require a venue • Has very little financial outlay - all you're paying for is the cost of the invitations (and you could get a sponsor for this in return for a bit of advertising) • Can be quite easy to obtain sponsorship. Disadvantages are relatively few. The main drawback is that supporters who may already be contributing to the charity or cause may feel 'put upon' by another request for help. It's also a fundraising idea you should be wary of overusing. It's okay as a witty, fun one-off activity, but at best this should be an annual event and possibly take place even less frequently. To organise a Fast Party, find a couple or several friends to help write a

	Guest List and put together an eye-catching, well-designed and witty invitation (for example, 'Mr and Mrs Smith have pleasure in not requesting your company.....' or 'Guests of Honour will not include..."). You could also print an unappetising menu on the back of the invitation to show 'participants' that they've had a lucky escape. Include a vegetarian option. Print the invitations on good quality card (you guests may want the option of displaying the invitation on their mantlepice) and include a self-addressed envelope or set up an online payment system so that participants can make their financial contribution easily - or you could just pop round to a supporters' house to collect their donation. Make sure that cheques are made out to the charity or cause rather than to an individual, which could lead you open to criticism or, worse, accusations of fraud. Tickets to the party could be £5 per person, £8 per couple or £10 per family, whatever you think is appropriate for your supporters. The advantage for 'participants' is that they don't have to do anything to participate. A Fast Party enables them to show their support for a cause at a relatively low cost without having to spend much effort, plan, or use up valuable time and effort. In terms of return, most Fast Parties report at least 50% of invitees making a donation. Some may not wish to participate but may still be willing to make a donation. Finally, always send a short thank-you letter, telling donors how the funding will be used and the difference it will make!

Fundraising – Auctions of Promises	Auctions of Promises tend to be most successful when held on the back of another event when equipment and furniture is already available. A good Auction of Promises (50 lots takes about an hour to get through if you have a good auctioneer) can often raise £1,000 or more. An Auction of Promises is held on identical lines to a conventional auction, but the 'lots' are quite different. Each lot is a 'Promise', usually written on individual slips of paper and signed and dated by the person offering the promise. Promises are secured by asking around your contacts, private companies or prominent individuals in the community, such as the Mayor or your local MP. It's a good idea to have a wide selection of lots, for example, handmade goods, offers of help, vouchers, special opportunities and donated items. Example of promises can include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Theatre tickets • Having your car(s) cleaned • A free round of golf • A week's holiday in a country cottage or an apartment overseas • A free meal at a local restaurant To organise an Auction of Promises, follow these steps: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Get together a small group of helpers or form a committee; 2. Decide on a date and a venue and apply for an occasional licence if you intend to run a bar, which could usefully increase the amount of funding raised; 3. Find an auctioneer who will ideally volunteer their time. If you can get one, a professional auctioneer will bring a sense of authenticity as well as ensuring the auction moves along at a brisk pace. If someone other than an experienced auctioneer wants to do it. it's essential they have a presence; 4. Proactively seek donations and promises. Make sure you get specific commitments from people or companies. Type up the promises and get them signed before the donor can pull out! Make it clear the offer is available for a limited period only, for instance 6 months or a year. 5. Prepare a catalogue showing images and the running order of all the lots which can be shown online or handed out at the event. It can help if you publish a reserve price for each lot to give participants an idea of where to begin bidding. To keep things interesting: Include a Surprise Auction: keep 2-3 popular lots in unmarked envelopes. Announce that the next lot is one of the unmarked promises, but bidders won't know which one it is. Participants make 'blind bids' and the successful bidder receives a surprise (it's important not to announce the lots until all have been auctioned). Include a Sealed Bid Auction: this is where you display the lots and make pens, papers and envelopes available. Bidders place their bids in sealed envelopes and place them in a box. The winners are announced at the end of the Promises Auction. It's worth bearing in mind that Sealed Bid Auctions don't generally raise as much funding. At the end of the Auction, try to encourage all successful bidders to pay before they leave. Thank the auctioneer with a bottle of wine and flowers. Make sure you have sufficient volunteers to clear up. After the event, thank your donors, volunteers and successful bidders and let them know how much has been raised and how the funds will be used.

--	---	--

	Ensure the Auction is reported in the local and social media (this can also be done in real-time during the event), together with the amount raised. An Auction of Promises is a great PR opportunity because you can gain additional publicity as people redeem their promises throughout the 6 months or year. Finally, think about making it an annual event to develop your commercial and public supporter base!

Crowdfunding - Spacehive	Spacehive is a crowd-funding platform which provides a single portal where people with project ideas can build support from their local community, ensure their plans are viable, pitch for funding from the crowd and partners at the same time, and share the impact they've created. When organisations create a project on Spacehive they're automatically matched with all of the funds that match the same criteria. For example, a Community Garden project will get matched to a Green Space fund in the same way a playground in Manchester will get matched to Manchester funds. You can get your project matched, pitch your project to funds and attract additional support from partners to help bring your project to life. Support with Applying for Funding	HHJ Consultancy is established in the South East and now setting up in the South West. They would like to support small charities and community groups to raise much needed funds for their work and on-going sustainability. Last year, they raised over £300,000 for groups. They do not charge for their service until the money they apply for has been received by the group they are supporting. All they ask in return is that the group pays 15% of the total raised. If they are unsuccessful in obtaining funding, they do not ask for any payment. They are also able to construct the evaluation and monitoring of the use of the monies on a group's behalf.	For further information contact Heather Harrington-James by e-mail to hhjconsultancy@outlook.com

Study into what encourages people to give to charity and what puts people off (and other reports)	NFP Synergy released two reports recently looking at what encourages people to give to charity and what puts people off from giving. The top four factors that encourage people to give are: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The charity is clear about what donations are spent on (56%); • Learning about the impact which the charity has (47%); • Positive stories about the charity in the media (37%); • Case stories/stories about individuals that have been helped (33%). Different age groups tend to be motivated by different factors, so those over 55 years old are more likely to want the charity to be clear about what its donations are spent on, as well wanting more information about impact. In contrast people under the age of 35 want case stories much more than older groups (40%+ for the under 35s vs around 30% for the other age groups), as well as fundraising events to take part in, thank you's, celebrity endorsements, and volunteering opportunities. All age groups want good stories in the media, and a strong media presence. Donors like to see great case studies and human stories - a clear mix of the information that motivates and inspires, and information that convinces them their donation isn't being wasted. More interesting perhaps is how young people want more than other age groups: they wanted to be engaged as a whole supporter: to give and to volunteer, to take part and be thanked. WHAT PUTS PEOPLE OFF? The most significant factor that puts people off from giving to charity is the	https://nfpsynergy.net/free-reports-and-presentations

	persistence and intrusiveness of fundraising. Irritation with fundraising rises steadily with age, peaking at the 55-64 year old age group. However fundraising is not the main barrier to people giving. This remains 'too little money actually going to the cause' at 54%. The second highest factor that puts people off from giving is 'too much money spent on staff salaries' at 43%. The reports, along with many other useful resources, are available on NFP's website under the 'Free Resources' tab.
Cyber Attacks	The Charity Commission is urging charities to be 'vigilant' in protecting their organisation from ransomware attacks and to follow protection advice recently issued by the National Cyber Security Centre. The Charity Commission, the independent regulator of charities in England and Wales, warns that the vulnerabilities exploited by the hackers over the last few days are the same for charities as they are for individuals, public or private sector organisations. The following information is relevant to all voluntary, community, and social enterprise (VCSE) organisations across the UK.	https://www.gov.uk/government/news/ransomware-threat-keep-your-charity-safe

Soup Fundraisers	'Soups' are a recent fundraising idea, imported from Detroit in America, that has gathered momentum in the UK over the last 18-24 months and	Bath has its own soup organised by the B&NES

	also includes a public vote, although in this instance this is restricted to those attending the Soup event. ‘Soup’ is designed first and foremost to be a great night out. For £5, audiences get a bowl of fresh, locally made soup, bread and sometimes a small slice of cake and music from local acts. The centrepiece of the night is pitches from local community groups, each getting five minutes to tell people about projects that need funding followed by a quick question and answer. The audience then votes for the one they like best, and the winner gets the pot of donations taken on the door. Successful soup nights often receive support from local businesses which provide in-kind support with soup/bread/cake making. It is not unusual for businesses attending soups to offer those pitching in-kind support, equipment etc whether they win the pot or not.	Volunteer Centre and Midsomer Norton held its first soup in March 2017. Edinburgh Soup is very happy to provide advice on how to start a Soup Night. Gift Aid	When people donate to a registered charity or a Community Amateur Sports Club (CASC), it's from an income they've usually already been	https://www.gov.uk/claim-gift-aid/what-you-can-claim-it-on taxed on. Charities can therefore reclaim the equivalent of the basic rate of tax, increasing the value of the donation made. For every £1 donated, the charity can claim an extra 25p, so each £1 can become £1.25 for the cause.

There are special rules for:

- Funds from sponsored challenges (for example: overseas treks or marathons);
- Charity membership fees;
- Church collections;
- Selling goods on behalf of individuals (for example through a charity shop);
- Charity events or to view charity property;
- Charity auctions;
- Volunteer expenses donated back to a charity or CASC; and
- Funds raised through charities involved in running schools

For your contribution to qualify for Gift Aid, you must pay enough UK tax to cover the amount the charity will reclaim. You'll also need to make a Gift Aid declaration if you want the organisation to make the claim, and many charities will include this on their donation forms.

The giver must confirm that this is a Gift Aid donation and that they have paid enough UK tax to cover the reclaimed amount.

You can make a declaration that covers an individual donation, contributions made during the previous six years and all future gifts to an organisation.

If you pay more than the basic rate of tax you can benefit from your donation as well.

	Donors paying 40 per cent tax can claim back the remaining tax for themselves by requesting a P810 Tax Review, or adding it to a Self Assessment tax return.
