Section A: Successful Local Bids

Greater biodiversity and new habitats in Bath and North East Somerset are set to be encouraged by three green community projects in Clutton, Freshford and Corston that have won new funding.

A fourth project to enhance the village of Chelwood has also won a grant with a replacement bench and repairs to the community noticeboard to be carried out this year.

The four projects are the first to successfully bid for a grant to enhance their local area from Bath & North East Somerset Council's Ward Councillor Empowerment Fund 2021/22.

Each year, the council provides each of its ward councillors with £1,000 to award local grants to projects that address concerns or needs of a local area.

The fund supports voluntary and community organisations, parish and town councils and other partners to help meet the council's core priorities – tackling the climate and nature emergency and giving people a bigger say.

The amounts awarded to the four projects are as follows:

Councillor Duncan Hounsell (Saltford) awarded £1,000 to Corston Parish Council towards the Corston Community Orchard including for a habitat and archaeological survey, trees, equipment, tools and outdoor furniture

Councillor Neil Butters (Bathavon South) awarded £200 to The Friends of Freshford Association for a series of projects that will enhance habitats and biodiversity on the village green, known as The Tynning

Councillor Sally Davis (Clutton & Farmborough), awarded £350 to Clutton Parish Council for the Clutton Play Park and Station Park nature improvements including two wildflower meadows, new spring bulbs, hedges and trees; and £350 to Chelwood Parish Council for the replacement of a bench in the village and repairs to the noticeboard at the Chelwood residents' amenity

Applications to the Ward Councillor Empowerment Fund need to be for at least £200, must be submitted by ward councillors and must demonstrate that there is support from their local community and/or local parish councils.

Ward councillor contact details can be found on the council website here

This year's fund opened on April 1 and will remain open until January 31, 2022. Further details can be found here

If you've been successful in obtaining funding whether from this bulletin or another source we would love to hear from you. It is a great way of promoting your work and projects and inspiring for other groups to hear of your success. E-mail: connecting_communities@bathnes.gov.uk

Arts Council Cultural Development Fund Round 2	Capital grants of between £2 million and £5 million for local partnerships in areas of England outside London to unlock local growth and productivity through investment in place-based creative and cultural initiatives.

The Arts Council England has announced that Round 2 of its Cultural Development Fund is open to applications. The Fund is designed to unlock local growth and productivity, promote economic and social recovery from the impact of COVID-19 and regenerate communities through capital investment in transformative place-based creative and cultural initiatives.

The Cultural Development Fund is open to places in England (excluding London) that have a strategic vision for their development and can demonstrate both cultural maturity and commitment to culture-led growth but need investment in physical and/or digital infrastructure and/or other assets to accelerate and maximise their impact.

Applications should focus on capitalising the untapped potential for investment in creativity and culture while addressing the regional undersupply and demand for capital funding in creative and cultural infrastructure by:

- A continued emphasis on the role of culture and heritage in making attractive places in which to live, work, visit and invest.
- A focus on the creation of a rebalanced economy that will deliver prosperity to all, regardless of geography.
- Local ownership of locally developed growth initiatives, agreed in partnership with local and central government, and
- New strategic approaches to accelerating growth in high-performing and innovative sectors.

In particular, the Cultural Development Fund will support places to achieve the following outcomes through the implementation of creative and cultural initiatives:

Become more attractive places in which to live, work, visit and invest: driving regeneration in marginalized places, particularly places with the lowest levels of cultural engagement across England by using creative and cultural investment to support recovery and renewal, retaining and attracting business investment and tourism, increasing civic pride and cultural engagement, and fostering community cohesion and strong local institutions and assets. This could include an element of measures to promote economic and social recovery post COVID-19, such as encouraging businesses and people to return to centres of economic activity.

Strengthen local leadership, partnerships and capability: creating resilient, diverse leadership and partnerships, and improving skills in the creative and cultural sectors and local government in order to secure recovery and promote inclusive growth, and

Unlock local economic growth and productivity: using capital investment in creative and cultural initiatives to grow their world leading creative industries regionally, create new sustainable jobs, and increase inclusive opportunities for creative and cultural careers. This could include an element of measures to promote economic and social recovery post COVID-19 such as retaining employment levels and talent and supporting

	creative industries regionally to adapt to changing markets and working environments. Please note that all applications must respond to the unlock economic growth and productivity priority and at least one other priority (become more attractive places in which to live, work, visit and invest/strengthen local leadership, partnerships and capability). The strongest applications will provide robust responses to all three outcomes. The fund has a total budget of £18.5 million for 2021/22 which includes £15.5 million for capital activity and £3 million for resource (project) activity. Grants of between £2 million and £5 million are available. Applicants can apply for capital (asset) activity with a limited proportion of resource activity (project activity). Applicants can include a maximum of £700,000 for supporting resource activity within their total budget. It is expected that applications will be from a partnership for the area, led by a local authority, Local Enterprise Partnership, or another appropriate body that would lead a consortium of partners from both the public and private sector, as well as the voluntary sector where appropriate. It is expected that at least one partner will be from the cultural, heritage or commercial creative industries, depending on who is most appropriate to meet the aims and objectives of the proposed activity. One organisation must act as the lead organisation and submit the application. Peri-urban refers to an area immediately adjacent to a city or an urban area. Land included in a UTCF application must fall within an urban area. An urban area, as defined for the purposes of the UTCF, is a built-up area (based on Office of National Statistics data) with a population of at least 2,000 people, and a buffer of 1km to account for peri-urban planting. This can be identified on the Forestry Commission map browser using the "UTCF Trees Close to People" layer located in the Targeting and Scoring list of map layers. Applicants will be expected to confirm in their application that the land falls entirely within this map layer. The following funding is available: Individual applications - for smaller, focused areas of planting undertaken by small organisations or community groups. Multiple applications from the same applicant will be ranked and scored independently from one another. Where the applicant does not have full management control over the land in the application (for example, the applicant is a tenant, trustee, joint owner or representative of a group of adjoining owners), they will require written permission from all parties with management control over the land before an agreement can be issued. This should come in the form of countersignatures on the application form. Land submitted in an UTCF application does not need to be registered on the Rural Land Register and applicants do not need to have Single Business Identifier (SBI). However, if applicants do have an SBI, it must be provided on the application form. The UTCF is a competitive fund and applications will be scored and ranked to identify projects that will provide the greatest environmental and social benefits to an area. Value for money may also be considered, with additional points being awarded where applications demonstrate this (for example, by containing a higher number of trees relative to competing applications).

It has recently secured funding from DCMS until 2021 and is seeking to reach more inactive charities and trusts in the year ahead. Once an organisation has been identified as dormant, the Commission gives the trustees the option of receiving support to help them get back up and running, or having funds redeployed to causes in line with their aims of the dormant charity or the trust transferred to a local community foundation to be managed for the long term benefit of local communities. So far, Revitalising Trusts has removed 179 charities from the register, transferring their funds to similar charities, local Community Foundations or UK Community Foundations, and revitalised 26 charities. Charities falling within the programmes criteria and seeking support in helping to get their charity operating again can contact the Revitalising Trusts Programme for advice and support by e-mail to: CSrevitalisingtrusts@charitycommission.gov.uk

Better Health Campaign	At the end of July 2020, Public Health England launched a major new adult health campaign to seize the opportunity for a national reset moment of health. Nearly two thirds (63%) of adults in the UK are overweight or living with obesity. Gaining weight is often a gradual process that takes place over a number of years and modern life doesn't always make it easy. But this extra weight causes pressure to build up around vital organs, making it harder for the body to fight against diseases like cancer, heart disease and now COVID-19. To improve health and wellbeing, individuals should aim to have a BMI below 25 and above 18.52. NICE recommends that Black, Asian and minority ethnic groups (BAME) should aim to have a BMI below 23 and above 18.5 to avoid risks to health. To support people to live healthier lives, Public Health England's Better Health campaign provides a variety of tools and apps to help people make healthier food choices, become more active and prevent future weight gain. One of these tools is a Weight Loss Plan app, which provides 12 weeks' worth of engaging content that can be personalised and tailored to the goals and needs of the individual. Later down the line, support will also be made available to help people quit smoking, cut down their drinking and look after their mental health.	https://www.nhs.uk/better-health/

The Campaign to End Loneliness - The Psychology of Loneliness	In July 2020, The Campaign to End Loneliness published a report, 'The Psychology of Loneliness'. It is the first of its kind to look at how we can use approaches from psychology to address loneliness. The campaign comes as a result of the Building Connections Fund, a part of the government's loneliness strategy. The report brings together the research with views and experiences of older people, policy makers, and organisations who work with older people, to look at how loneliness affects individuals, how people think and feel, and how to provide better support for people who feel lonely or are at risk of feeling lonely.	https://www.campaigntoendloneliness.org/wp-content/uploads/Psychology_of_Loneliness_FINAL_REPORT.pdf

	The report includes a foreword from Baroness Barran MBE, Minister for Civil Society, in which she states that she is pleased that the report has brought to the fore some aspects of addressing loneliness that are often not spoken about. You can read the full report by using the link to the right.

Complaints about charities to the Charity Commission	The Charity Commission is urging charities to “listen and learn” when issues are brought to them.	https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/every-complaint-matters-a-

	The regulator has reviewed complaints and reports about charities that fall below the threshold for regulatory action, to help it, and charities, learn from the matters raised by the public. The review is part of the Commission's commitment, set out in its 2018-2023 strategy, to ensure no complaint is ignored. All complaints about charities contribute to the Commission's assessment of risks facing charities, even where no direct regulatory action is required. The Commission says the review revealed that most complaints come from people invested in a charity – including beneficiaries, supporters, volunteers and trustees – and relate to issues that affect them personally. The Commission says that “it isn't the case that people only complain about a few large household name charities”.	thematic-review-of-complaints-about-charities

Subsidised Broadband for Rural Communities (posted in Dec 2019)	Some of the hardest-to-reach rural places in the UK are now eligible for government funding towards the cost of installing gigabit-capable* broadband to homes or businesses when part of a group project, thanks to the Gigabit Broadband Voucher Scheme. Premises must be in rural areas where available broadband speeds are less than 30 Megabits per second (Mbps). Vouchers are worth up to £3,500 for a small and medium-sized business and up to £1,500 per home. You can check whether you are likely to be eligible for the rural gigabit voucher and search for a registered supplier by looking up your postcode. Talk to suppliers in your area for the connection deal that is right for you and they will advise you on your eligibility and guide you through the process. You must commit to a 12-month contract with your supplier for a new download speed of at least 30 Mbps through a gigabit-capable connection.	https://gigabitvoucher.culture.gov.uk/rural/

	*Gigabit-capable means that the connection can handle speeds of 1,000 Megabits per second but you only sign up to speeds you can afford. If your demand increases in the future, you can pay for more speed.

Giving Feedback to Funder (from an article by Emma Beeston)	It is difficult to give honest feedback to funders about their application processes. Nobody wants to risk criticising them – wouldn't that be biting the hand that feeds you? Grant Advisor has come over from California to the UK - described as TripAdvisor for funders, applicants can now rate and review funders and the public-nature of the scores should help drive change through transparency. They are currently running a pilot in the UK so do join in if you have applied to any of these funders <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Esmee Fairbairn Foundation. • Two Ridings Community Foundation. • Paul Hamlyn Foundation. • Corra Foundation. • Joseph Rowntree Charitable Trust. • Indigo Trust. • National Lottery Community Fund. • Lloyds Bank Foundation. • Bishop Radford Trust. • Devon Community Foundation, or the • City Bridge Trust. At an event in the UK this summer, 50 fund raisers were asked what annoys them most about application processes. Their responses are summarized below:	https://grantadvisor.org.uk/

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Word counts – this was the most frequent response e.g. “word restrictions along with wanting complex answers”. • A lack of response – whether this was a lack of feedback, not being available to discuss bids or not hearing back e.g. “not getting a ‘no’ just hearing nothing” • The sheer length, complexity and diversity of information requested e.g. “the large amount of information you have to give e.g. 3 references”. • Being asked for unnecessary information – bugbears were being asked to submit documents available online via charity commission website and being asked financial questions that are covered in the accounts. • Poor design of the process - e.g. “unwieldy application forms”, “badly formatted word documents”, “saying they fund core costs but the application form is geared for projects”, “repetitive questions” and “when the IT doesn’t work”. • Lack of clarity – e.g. “when a funder gives you very little information about what they like to fund” which is made worse when they won’t talk to you to clarify their criteria and requirements."

Reading the Funding Guidelines: Why You Don't and Why You Should - Advice from Emma Beeston

Ask any funder their top reason for turning down an application and they will say "because the applicant did not read the guidance". This has sadly been the case for the many years, despite all the training sessions and guides out there for fundraisers. Which begs the question: why don't people read the guidance? Or if they do read it, why do they go ahead and apply anyway even though they don't fit with the criteria.

These are the 7 reasons I have come up with. They fall into three categories: one is excusable once; three are operational and the final three relate to a mindset.

Not found: People don't always know to look for any guidance. If someone is new to bid writing, then this is fair enough. Hopefully this will be pointed out to them early on and then there is no excuse for making this mistake twice.

Unclear: People can struggle with reading and so it is up to funders to help with this – after all they are trying to fund work that achieves social change not testing literacy. The guidance is not always clear or consistent and can be jargon-rich.

Some funders help by being available to talk to potential applicants or using films and webinars to explain their criteria and funding process.

Too tedious: Reading lists of we do fund ... and we don't fund ... do not make for riveting reading. WikiHow has a whole list of ways to tackle boring books and whilst I find their line "think of getting through a boring book as training for life" an incredibly depressing thought, the suggestions they have to take breaks, read away from interruptions, when most awake etc. are all useful.

Too time consuming: Of course, everyone is busy and finding time to read is hard. But this is a classic case of spend time now to save it later. You will save yourself an awful lot of wasted effort if you find out that you are not eligible and there is no point applying.

Disregarded: Treating applications as the end goal can be perpetuated by actual targets set for fundraisers for applications made. Or it can come from the sense that the Trustees and others will judge you if you have not populated a pipeline with many bids. The focus should always be on being effective – so your applications have a good chance of success – and not just volume.

Overlooked: The complacency effect happens where you think you know the guidance already or that you were funded before so must still fit. This can be a mistake where criteria and priorities have changed.

Ignored: Fundraisers are usually wonderfully optimistic and resilient souls and so hope sometimes wins over judgment. There is a danger of putting in a speculative application just in case it might be considered and in other cases, passion clouds reality. Because the bid writer is so excited about their work and the difference it makes, they assume that funders will be equally blown away and will make an exception. If you think this applies to you, try a phone call – but only after you've read the guidance.

Whatever the reason, the advice remains the same – before spending time on writing a bid, you must read the guidance and if you don't fit with the criteria, don't just go ahead and apply anyway. Put your precious time into another application, where you have a much better chance of being funded.

Lloyds Bank launches £500 million Growth Fund	Lloyds Banking Group has opened a £500 million pound loan fund to help British businesses finance equipment. Essentially, this is the same £500 million scheme the bank opened a couple of years ago for the agricultural sector, but now its remit has been widened to include manufacturing, construction and transport. The scheme targets small and medium-sized companies which banks froze out of credit following the financial crisis. The bank said the fund will deliver quick access to finance by allowing companies to spread the cost of assets over their lifetime, enabling big investments that don't eat into working capital. The government sees small and medium-sized companies as key to unlocking higher productivity, which has fallen back to below pre-crisis levels this year, and to the success of the UK economy post-Brexit. These businesses have struggled to invest in the decade since the financial crisis as banks have shied away from lending to smaller businesses.	Interested parties can phone either of the Bank's two 24-hour helpline/contact numbers: 0345 300 0000 or 01733 347 007. PLEASE NOTE: these are not Freephone numbers – calls are charged at a local rate. https://international.lloydsbank.com/products-and-services/investments/funds/mf/growth/
Fundraising Advice – Hold a Fast Party	The idea behind a Fast Party is not to plough through the buffet at a party as quickly as possible, but to 'fast' – as in abstaining from eating. A Fast Party is actually a non-event, whereby people are invited to a party that isn't going to take place. This type of fundraiser works particularly well with well-known charitable organisations with a strong supporter base either locally or nationally. Guests are asked to go without one meal on a specific date and to contribute the money that would otherwise be spend on the meal to your not-for-profit. The advantage of this fundraising idea is that it:

- Requires very little organising
- Doesn't require a venue
- Has very little financial outlay – all you're paying for is the cost of the invitations (and you could get a sponsor for this in return for a bit of advertising)
- Can be quite easy to obtain sponsorship.

Disadvantages are relatively few. The main drawback is that supporters who may already be contributing to the charity or cause may feel 'put upon' by another request for help.

It's also a fundraising idea you should be wary of overusing. It's okay as a witty, fun one-off activity, but at best this should be an annual event and possibly take place even less frequently.

To organise a Fast Party, find a couple or several friends to help write a Guest List and put together an eye-catching, well-designed and witty invitation (for example, 'Mr and Mrs Smith have pleasure in not requesting your company.....' or 'Guests of Honour will not include...").

You could also print an unappetising menu on the back of the invitation to show 'participants' that they've had a lucky escape. Include a vegetarian option.

Print the invitations on good quality card and include a self-addressed envelope or set up an online payment system so that participants can make their financial contribution easily – or you could just pop round to a supporters' house to collect their donation.

Make sure that cheques are made out to the charity or cause rather than to an individual, which could lead you open to criticism or, worse, accusations of fraud. Tickets to the party could be £5 per person, £8 per couple or £10 per family, whatever you think is appropriate for your supporters.

	The advantage for ‘participants’ is that they don’t have to do anything to participate. A Fast Party enables them to show their support for a cause at a relatively low cost without having to spend much effort, plan, or use up valuable time and effort. In terms of return, most Fast Parties report at least 50% of invitees making a donation. Some may not wish to participate but may still be willing to make a donation. Finally, always send a short thank-you letter, telling donors how the funding will be used and the difference it will make!

Fundraising – Auctions of Promises	Auctions of Promises tend to be most successful when held on the back of another event when equipment and furniture is already available.

A good Auction of Promises (50 lots takes about an hour to get through if you have a good auctioneer) can often raise £1,000 or more.

An Auction of Promises is held on identical lines to a conventional auction, but the 'lots' are quite different. Each lot is a 'Promise', usually written on individual slips of paper and signed and dated by the person offering the promise. Promises are secured by asking around your contacts, private companies or prominent individuals in the community, such as the Mayor or your local MP. It's a good idea to have a wide selection of lots, for example, handmade goods, offers of help, vouchers, special opportunities and donated items. Example of promises can include:

- Theatre tickets
- Having your car(s) cleaned
- A free round of golf
- A week's holiday in a country cottage or an apartment overseas
- A free meal at a local restaurant

To organise an Auction of Promises, follow these steps:

1. Get together a small group of helpers or form a committee;
2. Decide on a date and a venue and apply for an occasional licence if you intend to run a bar, which could usefully increase the amount of funding raised;
3. Find an auctioneer who will ideally volunteer their time. If you can get one, a professional auctioneer will bring a sense of authenticity as well as ensuring the auction moves along at a brisk pace. If someone other than an experienced auctioneer wants to do it. It's essential they have a presence;
4. Proactively seek donations and promises. Make sure you get specific commitments from people or companies. Type up the promises and get them signed before the donor can pull out! Make it clear the offer is available for a limited period only, for instance 6 months or a year.
5. Prepare a catalogue showing images and the running order of all the lots which can be shown online or handed out at the event. It can help if you publish a reserve price for each lot to give participants an idea of where to begin bidding.

	To keep things interesting: Include a Surprise Auction: keep 2-3 popular lots in unmarked envelopes. Announce that the next lot is one of the unmarked promises, but bidders won't know which one it is. Participants make 'blind bids' and the successful bidder receives a surprise (it's important not to announce the lots until all have been auctioned). Include a Sealed Bid Auction: this is where you display the lots and make pens, papers and envelopes available. Bidders place their bids in sealed envelopes and place them in a box. The winners are announced at the end of the Promises Auction. It's worth bearing in mind that Sealed Bid Auctions don't generally raise as much funding. At the end of the Auction, try to encourage all successful bidders to pay before they leave. Thank the auctioneer with a bottle of wine and flowers. Make sure you have sufficient volunteers to clear up. After the event, thank your donors, volunteers and successful bidders and let them know how much has been raised and how the funds will be used. Ensure the Auction is reported in the local and social media (this can also be done in real-time during the event), together with the amount raised. An Auction of Promises is a great PR opportunity because you can gain additional publicity as people redeem their promises throughout the 6 months or year. Finally, think about making it an annual event to develop your commercial and public supporter base!

Gift Aid	When people donate to a registered charity or a Community Amateur Sports Club (CASC), it's from an income they've usually already been taxed on. Charities can therefore reclaim the equivalent of the basic rate of tax, increasing the value of the donation made. For every £1 donated, the charity can claim an extra 25p, so each £1 can become £1.25 for the cause.	https://www.gov.uk/claim-gift-aid/what-you-can-claim-it-on

	There are special rules for: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Funds from sponsored challenges (for example: overseas treks or marathons); • Charity membership fees; • Church collections; • Selling goods on behalf of individuals (for example through a charity shop); • Charity events or to view charity property; • Charity auctions; • Volunteer expenses donated back to a charity or CASC; and • Funds raised through charities involved in running schools For your contribution to qualify for Gift Aid, you must pay enough UK tax to cover the amount the charity will reclaim. You'll also need to make a Gift Aid declaration if you want the organisation to make the claim, and many charities will include this on their donation forms. The giver must confirm that this is a Gift Aid donation and that they have paid enough UK tax to cover the reclaimed amount. You can make a declaration that covers an individual donation, contributions made during the previous six years and all future gifts to an organisation. If you pay more than the basic rate of tax you can benefit from your donation as well. Donors paying 40 per cent tax can claim back the remaining tax for themselves by requesting a P810 Tax Review, or adding it to a Self Assessment tax return.

Charity Reserves – building resilience	A review by the Charity Commission has shown that less than a quarter of larger charities accurately reported the level of financial reserves they hold in their trustees' annual report. According to the Commission, its findings suggest an incomplete understanding of what reserves are, which it says could lead trustees to make poor decisions about their charity's finances. All registered charities must explain their policy on reserves in their trustees' annual report, and should state the level of reserves held as well as why they are held. Almost all of a sample of 106 charities with an income over £500,000 included at least a reference to their reserves policy in their annual report. However, less than a quarter gave the right reserves figure, based on the information in their accounts. A third of charities failed to include a figure at all, while many trustees appear to believe that reserves are the same thing as total unrestricted funds. As well as the report, the Commission has also published guidance to help charities understand what reserves are and how to develop and report on a reserves policy. It will be sending these to all charities in the sample where there were concerns over the absence or accuracy of the reserves figure in their annual reports.	https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/charities-and-reserves-cc19

Legacy Fundraising	Legacies can be a challenging area for charitable organisations because it can be a difficult and sensitive issue to broach, yet legacies are generally the biggest gifts received by charities from individuals. The Code of Fundraising Practice and its associated Rulebooks for Street, Door and Private Site Fundraising outline the standards expected of all charitable fundraising organisations across the UK. The Code sets out the law and best practice for a range of fundraising techniques. The standards were developed by the fundraising community through the work of the Institute of Fundraising (IoF) and Public Fundraising Association (PFRA), which has now merged with the Institute of Fundraising.	www.RememberaCharity.org.uk

However, applications may be made at any time and the programme may close before 31 March 2020 if the budget has been committed before the closing date. https://www.screenskills.co.uk/opportunities/bursary-guidelines/

	Priority will be given to applications from people who are working in skills gap or shortage areas in the industry. Other factors which may be taken into account in awarding funds include income and whether the proposed course is one recognised by ScreenSkills.
